

EED 726.01 (2390): Teaching Process Writing in Elementary Classrooms, Transitional Kindergarten to 6th grade

(This course meets the elective requirements for the MA: Concentration, Elementary Education; Reading Certificate, MA: Concentration Language & Literacy.)

Register for this dynamic learning experience!

Course Information

When: Summer Intensive, R1, Monday to Thursdays, June 5th to June 21st (except Fridays)

Time: 9:30 AM to 1:30 PM

Where: Burk Hall 173

Instructor: Anna Sopko, literacy instructor and coach

Sponsored by the Dept. of Elementary Education, SFSU

During the course of the semester we will:

- Examine the foundations of the writing workshop and explore best practices including: assessment, genre studies, mini lessons, conferring, grammar and mechanics, strategy groups, revision and publication.
- Selection of instructional methods to supporting the development of writing for all learners (inclusion students, bilingual, struggling, and high leverage learners).
- Read and respond to current research with a focus on differentiation and inclusion as it relates to the writing process.
- Examine the impact of technology on the teaching and production of writing.
- Participants will engage in reflective teaching practices, personally participate in the writing process, and pursue areas of specific interest through research and presentation.

